

To Whom It May Concern,

I have been an educator in Eaton County for over twenty years now. I have known Kelly Morton for over 30 years and can attest to her kindness, generosity, fairness, and commitment to the community.

Early on in my career, I invited Kelly to my classroom multiple times to speak with youth regarding law-related careers. The students always responded warmly to her humor, honesty, approachability, and willingness to answer questions. She was generous with her time and showed her passion through preparedness and sharing personal anecdotes with the students.

There is no question as to Kelly's fairness and kindness. She has shown fortitude in gracefully embracing life's struggles with a perspective that is different than many other people I know. The way she looks at things is pragmatic and positive. Observing her in her personal, professional, and community relationships over the years, I can say that she has an unwavering concern for what is ethically right and just.

Sincerely,

Beth Strait
